SOME ACCOUNT OF

A MANUSCRIPT,

Found among the papers of a French emigrant in London, entitled,

"TALLEYRAND'S DESCENT INTO HELL."

THIS work appears to have been compoſed at intervals of time, as an Engliſh exerciſe, and partakes of all the viciſſitudes of temper which may be ſuppoſed to influence a Frenchman in his ſituation; exiled from his country, ſtripped of his property, cut off, forever perhaps, from a beloved family, and only ſupported under the weight of misfortune by the elaſticity of a French mind. This perfect ſubjection of the matter and manner of the work to the diſpoſition of the author, has produced a very extraordinary contexture, and much variety of ſtyle and entertainment: ſometimes verſe, ſometimes proſe—ſometimes narrative, ſometimes dialogue, it purſues its broken courſe not unfrequently through meads of flowers, but oftener doubling into the wild receſſes of romantic humour; now prattling with echo in Philoſophy's rocky labyrinth, and then winding its plaintive current among the willows of ſorrow, "Telling its mournful, pitiable tale."

The author commences his ſingular production with a detail of circumſtances which occaſioned Talleyrand's expedition. The moſt prominent is this: The French Directory, after having ranſacked hiſtory for extravagant examples of villainy, inhumanity, cruelty and madneſs; after having even ſurpaſſed thoſe models, and created others ſtill more ſhocking and outrageous; diſcovered that Hercules, Theſeus, Ulyſſes, and other heroes of antiquity, while yet in their mortal bodies, had abſolutely viſited the ſhades below, and returned with whole bones and monſtrous reputations to their country and their friends. An exploit, ſo daring and ſo profound, was not barely calculated to incite ſurpriſe in the Great Nation; it became the object of their indiſpenſable and paſſionate emulation. It was accordingly decreed by the Directory, that this alſo ſhould be added to the atchievements of Republican France. The perſon choſen to conduct the perilous enterpriſe, was Talleyrand the apoſtate. If the devil had a friend on earth, whom it was his intereſt to keep there, it was generally believed that he was the man: there was conſequently little danger of his detention in the dominions of his infernal Majeſty. On the part of Talleyrand, however, a conſiderable degree of reluctance was diſplayed, which, by the operation of a few talifmanic words and a kind of directorial power, was confined within the chambers of his own boſom. Nothing now remained but to ſettle the mode of deſcent; no Sibil to direct his way, no embodied Tireſias to bid him welcome. Many expedients were ſuggeſted, none of which on cloſer inſpection were deemed practicable. They reſolved at length to ſend for one of the German Magi, who are ſuppoſed to excel in necromancy, and to entreat his aid in the proſecution of their ſcheme. A deſcription of the object in contemplation was accordingly forwarded to Weiſhaupt the Illuminatus, and his aſſiſtance ſolicited in the moſt perſuaſive terms. Weiſhaupt yielded to their importunities, and agreed to join Talleyrand in Campania. Having met, they journeyed on, hoping to feel the ſulphureous breath of Avernus at every ſtep. All day they continued their wanderings, guided only by the ſupernatural intimations of Weiſhaupt's Familiar, till the ſhadows of night began to cloſe around them. The moon was at the meridian; the moment auſpicious, when the necromancer commenced his incantations. Birds of darkneſs began to flit around them; heavy clouds gathered over their heads; and the earth was felt to tremble as Weiſhaupt muttered his potent ſpell. On theſe unholy rites, fame has interpoſed her curtain, and blotted out the pages which ought to ſucceed. We lament the loſs of this part of our author the more, as a deſcription of the beſt way of going to hell, now a days, muſt have been highly entertaining. One circumſtance ſtrikes us very forcibly; as it ſeems to argue the defection of the conjuror: No Weiſhaupt is mentioned in any of the ſucceeding pages in our poſſeſſion, and the Hero of the Great Nation is left to proſecute his infernal perigrinations alone. We are therefore authoriſed to ſuppoſe, that this adept in miſchief, not wiſhing to participate in the danger he had allotted to Talleyrand, led him to the brink of the precipice, delivered him into the hands of the great enemy of mankind, and withdrew himſelf, ſafe and ſound, from the honor and reſponſibility of ſo hazardous an undertaking. S.

At a meeting of captain Barton's company of volunteer infantry, at the houſe of Mrs Edwards, in the Borough of Lancaſter, (lieutenant Henry preſiding) after partaking of an excellent ſupper, the following toaſts were drank:

1. The President of the United States—virtue, wiſdom, and patriotiſm in him are united; his countries rights his greateſt care.

2. Lieutenant General Washington—The ſoldier, the ſtateſman. May his name be handed down to the lateſt poſterity with that reverence which a long and glorious career in life entitles him to receive.

3. The Congress of the United States—May a ſtrict adherence to the rights of their conſtituents ever be the helm by which they ſteer the vaſt fabric entruſted to their charge.

4. The Volunteers of the United States—May they prove a bulwark to the government of their country, againſt all foreign and domeſtic foes.

4. Captain Barton—May the conduct of the Blues ever be ſuch as to merit the eſteem of their commander.

6. The Governor and State of Pennſylvania.

7. Agriculture and Commerce—May the produce of the former be wafted by the latter from the ſhores of Columbia, to all the regions of the globe.

8. The People of the United States—May unanimity and friendſhip ſucceed the preſent political differences that reign among them.

9. Mr. Pickering, Secretary of State—His honeſt zeal for his country's good muſt gain the applauſe of all good men.

11 No Tribute to purchaſe peace, while our country abounds with citizen ſoldiers and implements of war.

11. The memory of those Heroes who have fallen and bled in eſtabliſhing thoſe rights we now enjoy, and which we will ſupport at the point of the bayonet.

12. The Army and Navy of the United States—May they never ſuffer the Flag of the Union to be inſulted with impunity.

13. The Conſtitution of our Country—May it never be violated by Power, nor undermined by Faction.

14. Peace with all Nations, provided it con be maintained upon juſt and honorable principles: but War, with all its curses, rather than a diſhonorable Peace.

15. The fair Daughters of America—Heaven has endowed them with charms to add ſtrength and vigor to the ſoldier's arm in protecting them from danger.

FOREIGN.

Every part of the world exhibits intereſting events. The buſy ſphere of man muſt now afford news of high moment and in rapid ſucceſſion, ſufficient to gratify an Athenian taſte. Were it not an age of political Wonders, of revolutionary atchievements, each occurrence might afford lengthy and ſerious employment to the hiſtorian. But as the mind cannot be kept up always in higheſt tone, great events by repetition loſe their apparent magnitude, and ſhare the fate of the neglected "almanac of the by-gone years."——The French Directory lately ſtated to the Council of Five Hundred that 600 millions were neceſſary for the exigencies of the current year. They now demand 114 millions more. This latter ſum only is three times as much, according to the number of inhabitants, as the tax of two millions upon the United States. In the beginning of their revolution, the Jacobins promiſed the populace of France that taxes and feudal right ſhould be ſuppreſſed. A fine ſpecimen of Democratic fidelity! Were the throne once deſtroyed the ignorant peaſantry were taught to believe that the gates of Eden would on golden hinge open to 24 millions of happy Sanſculotes; where labor and ſubordination would ceaſe; to whom the kings of the earth would do homage; and wine and women, the ſong and the dance would abound, without meaſure and without end, without money and without price! Their taxes muſt grow ſtill more enormous, ſince the combined world is riſing againſt them, and plunderings, contributions, thefts and confiſcations muſt ceaſe. It would have been ſome relief to our dear ally, had the American government paid the doceur and demanded tribute! They might, then, have given us the eulogium of the old adage, "a friend in need is a friend indeed!"——The Malteſe are become diſguſted with French fraternity. They have forced the Sanſculottes from the iſland, and reſumed their old from of government again. Had Malton wrote his poem in this age, he might have deſcribed the puniſhment of the fallen angels as conſiſting in ſubmiſſion to the French Directory, and the liberty and equality of Sanſculottes!

PHILADELPHIA,

MONDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 11.

On Saturday laſt, the 9th inſtant, departed this life in the 39th year of her age, Mrs. ELIZABETH SMITH, wife of Mr. Daniel Smith of this city, merchant.

The bright aſſemblage of virtues which conſtituted the character of this truly amiable woman, renders her death a juſt ſubject of deep regret to her connections, her friends, and her acquaintance. As a wife, a mother, a miſtreſs and a friend, her conduct regulated by the precepts of true religion, was in a very high degree meritorious, and exemplary. To the various diſtreſſes of the poor, her ſenſibility was ever tremblingly alive, her hands were always ready to execute the dictates of her heart. Such was the blameleſs tenor of her life, that upon a ſerious and impartial review of it, during her laſt illneſs, which ſhe foreſaw would terminate her probation here, ſhe was inſpired with the animating hope that ſhe ſhould be received by her Saviour and her Judge, as a "good and faithful ſervant." This confidence ſoothed and exhilirated the bed of death, and enabled her, notwithſtanding the powerful ties of a beloved huſband, and ſeven affectionate children, to ſuſtain the approaching proſpect of ſeparation from them, with that fortitude and pious reſignation, which Chriſtianity alone can communicate at ſo trying, ſo ſolemn a period.

The Brothers left Lymington, 9th December a few days ſince, in long. 69, ſpoke the ſch'r. Polly Davis, out 4 days from hence to St. Thomas's; ſchooner Ann, from Norfolk to Martinico, all well.

We have ſeen London papers to the 6th of Dec. but they are barren of news, conſols at 53.

The Expreſs from Cape Francois, left there the following veſſels: ſhip Harmony, Willington, and ſchooner Nancy, Lillibridge of this port, time of ſailing uncertain. Capt. Williams informs, that the ſhip B. Franklin, captain Jones, and brig Amiable, Adeel, (cartels) from hence, had arrived at the Cape in a ſhort paſſage, and had proceeded for Port-au-Prince; that two armed brigs had arrived there from France, bringing in, as prize, the brig Vulture of Salem, bound to windward, which veſſel was condemned eight days prior to his leaving the Cape.

Two ſchooners (one from Philadelphia, the other from Baltimore) put into the Cape in diſtreſs, two or three days before the expreſs ſailed, names not known.

In the Expreſs came 20 paſſengers who were obliged by general Touſſaint to leave the iſland. The brig Mary, Dickſon, of and from this port was ſpoke in lat. 29, 2. long. 72, 10, 120 days from Rotterdam, having ſprung her rudder; was bearing away for Bermuda. Schooner Neptune, Watters, of and from this, bound to St. Thomas, was ſpoke on the 31ſt ult. 3 days from the Capes.

Schooner Nancy, Golding, of this port, has arrived at Norfolk from Antigua and Turk's Iſland.

The Betſey, Bell, left the Cape of Good Hope the 15th of November. December 11th ſpoke the ſchooner Harminger, from the Cape of Good Hope, with diſpatches for the governor of St. Helena, announcing the death of admiral Chriſtian.

Feb. 2, lat. 34, long. 73, was chaſed at duſk by an armed ſloop, ſuppoſing her to be a French privateer, who fired at us, but night and ſqually weather coming on, we were enabled, with gteat exertions, to eſcape him. Off the capes, the light houſe bearing N. W. diſtance 9 miles, ſaw a large ſhip from the eaſtward, apparently bound in, Capt. Bell informs, that on the 5th of Dec. he touched at St. Helena; while there the ſhip Kenſington, Carr, of this port, and ſhip ——, Martin, of Boſton, arrived from Calcutta, and were ſtopped by order of the Governor and ſent to England (under ſuſpicion of being engaged in a contraband trade' as they were bound to Copenhagen) with the Britiſh homeward bonnd Eaſt India fleet the 13th of December, under convoy of the Stately man of war.

In the Expreſs came home the mate of the brig Hannah, Ennis, of this port, who informs, that ſhe was captured on the 16 h of December laſt, on her homeward paſſage, from Oporto, in lat. 23, by a French Letter of Marque brig of 16 guns, and 36 men, from L'Orient for Cape Francois; that in ſight of the Cape, the Hannah was re-captured by a veſſel of war, and he ſuppoſes ſent for Jamaica, and the brig chaſed into the Cape by the boats of the frigate, but eſcaped by her ſweeps.

He further informs, that the letter of marque was deeply laden with an aſſorted cargo, and was, with another veſſel, which her captain had purchaſed, taking in a cargo of coffee, &c. and was to return immediately to France.

TO THE

Promoters of Literature.

THE managers of the Beula Seminary, impelled by motives of pure morality, having reſolved to diſpoſe of the following property by way of LOTTERY, in order to aſſiſt them in erecting a convenient building for the accommodation of one hundred ſtudents, and the neceſſary profeſſors in the different departments of ſcience—do offer for ſale three hundred and fifty lots in BEULA, each fifty-eight feet by one hundred and twenty-five, at twenty dollars per ticket, each ticket entitled to a lot to be determined by ballot; ten dollars to be paid on receipt of the ticket, and the remaining ten on the delivery of the deed. The ballot to take place before impartial men, as ſoon as the whole number of tickets are ſold.

The managers, anticipating the difficulty of obtaining caſh for the whole, have reſolved to receive an equivalent, for ſome of the lots, in ſelect books; philoſophical apparatus, or in produce and materials for building, delivered on the ſpot.

It may be obſerved, that the value of prizes in this lottery will be more than double the amount of all the tickets; for 350 lots, would at their average eſtimation, produce at leaſt 15,750 dollars; whilſt, according to the preſent propoſals, the ſum obtained for them will be only 7,000 dollars.

Tickets may be had during this winter, of Morgan J. Rhees, preſident of the board of managers, no. 177, ſouth Second-ſtreet, Philadelphia; who will receive propoſals and plans for the erection of the building. It is intended to be of brick or ſtone; its ſituation on the ſummit of a gradual riſing eminence, commanding an extenſive proſpect of the ſurrounding country; an obſervatory to be on its top.

Land and out lots in the vicinity of the Town may be had on moderate terms by applying as above. Mechanics and laborers, of good morals will meet with encouragement.

Law of the United States.

By Authority.

Fifth Congress of the United States
At the Third Session, begun and held at the City of Philadelphia, in the State of Pennsylvania, on Monday, the third of December, one thousand seven hundred and ninety eight.

AN ACT,

Further to suspend the Commercial Intercourse between the United States and France, and the dependencies thereof.

BE it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That from and after the third day of March next, no ship or vessel owned, hired or employed, wholly, or in part, by any person resident within the United States, and which shall depart therefrom, shall be allowed to proceed directly, or from any intermediate port or place, to any port or place within the territory of the French republic, or the dependencies thereof, or to any place in the West Indies, or elsewhere, under the acknowledged government of France, or shall be employed in any traffic or commerce with or for any person resident within the jurisdiction, or under the authority of the French republic. And if any ship or vessel, in any voyage thereafter commencing, and before her return within the United States, shall be voluntarily carried, or suffered to proceed to any French port or place, as aforesaid, or shall be employed, as aforesaid, contrary to the intent hereof, every such ship or vessel, together with her cargo, shall be forfeited; and shall accrue, the one half to the use of the United States, and the other half to the use of any person or persons, citizens of the United States, who will inform and prosecute for the same; and shall be liable to be seized, and may be prosecuted and condemned, in any circuit or district court of the United States, which shall be holden within or for the district where the seizure shall be made.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That from and after the passing of this act, no clearance for a foreign voyage shall be granted to any ship or vessel, owned, hired or employed, wholly or in part, by any person resident within the United States, until a bond shall be given, to the use of the United States, wherein the owner or employer, if usually resident or present where the clearance shall be required, and otherwise his agent or factor, and the master or captain of such ship or vessel, for the intended voyage, shall be parties, in a sum equal to the value of the ship or vessel, and to one third of the value of her cargo, and shall find sufficient surety or sureties to the amount of one half of the principal sum, with condition that the same shall not, during her intended voyage, or before her return within the United States, proceed or be carried, directly or indirectly to any port or place within the territory of the French Republic, or the dependencies thereof, or any place in the West Indies, or elsewhere, under the acknowledged government of France; unless by actual force and violence, to be fully proved and manifested before the acquittance of such bond, and that such vessel is not, and shall not be employed, during her intended voyage or before her return, as aforesaid, in any traffic or commerce, with or for any person resident within the territory of that republic, or in any of the dependencies thereof:—Provided, that in no case, the surety or sureties shall be answerable for more than ten thousand dollars.

Sec. 3, And be it further enacted, That from and after the said third day of March, no French ship or vessel, armed or unarmed, commissioned by or for, or under the authority of the French Republic, or owned, fitted, hired or employed by any person resident within the territory of that Republic, or any of the dependencies thereof, or sailing or coming therefrom, (excepting as is hereinafter excepted) shall be allowed an entry, or to remain within the territory of the United States, unless driven thither by distress of weather, or in want of provisions. And if, contrary to the intent hereof, any such ship or vessel shall be found within the jurisdictional limits of the United States, not being liable to seizure for any other cause, the company having charge thereof, shall be required to depart and carry away the same, avoiding all unnecessary delay; and if they shall, notwithstanding, remain, it shall be the duty of the collector of the district within, or nearest to which such ship or vessel shall be, to seize and detain the same, at the expense of the United States: Provided, that in the case of vessels hereby prohibited, which shall be driven by distress of weather, or want of provisions, into any port or place of the United States, they may be suffered to remain under the custody of the collector there, or nearest thereto, until suitable repairs or supplies can be obtained; and as soon as may be thereafter, shall be required and suffered to depart; but no part of the lading of such vessel shall be taken out, or disposed of, unless by the special permit of such collector, to defray the unavoidable expense of such repairs or supplies.

Sec. 4. Provided, and be it further enacted, That at any time after the passing of this act, it shall be lawful for the President of the United States, if he shall deem it expedient and consistent with the interest of the United States, by his order to remit and discontinue for the time being the restraints and prohibitions aforesaid, either with respect to the French Republic, or to any island, port or place belonging to the said Republic, with which a commercial intercourse may safely be renewed; and also to revoke such order, whenever, in his opinion, the interest of the United States shall require; and he shall be, and hereby is authorised to make proclamation thereof accordingly.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the President of the United States, to give instructions to the commanders of the public armed ships of the United States, to stop and examine any ship or vessel of the United States, on the high sea, which there may be reason to suspect to be engaged in any traffic or commerce, contrary to the true tenor hereof; and if, upon examination, it shall appear that such ship or vessel is bound or sailing to any port or place within the territory of the French republic, or her dependencies, contrary to the intent of this act, it shall be the duty of the commander of such public armed vessel, to seize every ship or vessel engaged in such illicit commerce, and send the same to the nearest port in the United States; and every such ship or vessel, thus bound or sailing to any such port or place, shall, upon due proof thereof, be liable to the like penalties and forfeitures, as are provided in and by the first section of this act.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That whenever any ship or vessel, owned wholly or in part, or employed by any citizen or citizens of the United States, and coming from any port or place within the territory of the French republic, or the dependencies thereof, which has arrived within any port or place of the United States since the first day of December last past, or which shall hereafter arrive, hath been or hereafter shall be seized and detained by virtue of this act, or of an act, entituled "an act to suspend the commercial intercourse between the United States and France, and the dependencies thereof,"—it shall be lawful for any person claiming such ship or vessel, to prefer his petition to the judge of the district in which such seizure shall be made, setting forth the circumstances of his case, and to pray that the same ship or vessel, and her cargo, may be restored; and the said judge shall thereupon enquire, in a summary manner, into the circumstances of the case, first causing reasonable notice to be given to the attorney of the United States for such district, and to the collector of the district by whom such seizure or detention hath been or shall be made, that each may have an opportunity of shewing cause against the prayer of such petition; and shall cause the facts which shall appear upon such enquiry, to be stated and annexed to the petition, and direct their transmission to the Secretary of the Treasury; and if it shall appear to his satisfaction, that such ship or vessel was captured or driven into such port or place by distress of weather, or want of provisions, or was unavoidably detained and delayed by some embargo, arrest, capture, contrary winds, or other unavoidable casualty, without any fault, wilful negligence, or intention to evade the provisions of the act before mentioned, or of this act, in any such claimant, the Secretary of the Treasury shall order the restoration of said vessel and cargo, to such claimant, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem reasonable and just; otherwise, and in all cases wherein such petition shall not be presented, every ship or vessel that has arrived since the said first day of December, from any port or place in the French republic, or the dependencies thereof, or which shall hereafter arrive within any port or place of the United States, unless driven by stress of weather or want of provisions, shall be liable to be prosecuted and condemned in the same manner and to the same uses as are provided in and by the first section of this act; and like proceedings shall also be had, and like forfeitures incurred, as are herein provided with respect to vessels coming from France, and the dependencies thereof, in all cases when any ship or vessel shall arrive in any port or place of the United States, from any port or place, with which all commercial intercourse shall be prohibited by proclamation, according to the intent of this act.

Sec. 7. Provided, and be it further enacted, That nothing in this act contained, shall extend to any ship or vessel to which the President of the United States shall grant a permission to enter or to clear; which permission he is hereby authorised to grant to vessels which shall be solely employed in any purpose of political or national intercourse, or to aid the departure of any French persons, with their goods and effects, who shall have been resident within the United States, when he may think requisite.

Sec. 8. And be it further enacted, That this act shall continue and be in force until the third day of March, in the year one thousand eight hundred.

PHILADELPHIA,

MONDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 11.

SHOCKING OUTRAGE.

The repose of the city was yesterday (Sunday) disturbed by a more daring and flagitious riot, than we remember to have outraged the civil law and the decorum of society for more than forty years. The extent of the views entertained by the instigators of this shocking transaction has not been, we believe, as yet sufficiently ascertained. The selection of the Lord's Day, for exciting a general scene of confusion and disorder, whilst it sufficiently characterizes the principles of the actors, is also a very strong collateral evidence, that their intentions were of the most atrocious nature.

Four men, (two of whom are United Irishmen, and the other two of a similar description of character) had the unparalleled effrontery and prophanity to assault the members of the Catholic Church, during divine service, with a most seditious and inflammatory petition against the Alien and Sedition Laws.

In this insolent paper, to procure signatures to which they were prophaning the temple of the Most High, it is asserted, that a greater proportion of Irishmen fought the battles of the Revolution and guided the councils of the country, than of Americans. This assertion is selected from amidst a continual train of calumny and scurrilous abuse against the people of America, because if such a slander will not rouse the indignation of every man of honor, whether he be American or Irishman, nothing can. Further to second the objects of the rioters, they had affixed a placard to the door of the Church, in the following terms—

"The natives of Ireland who worship at this Church, are requested to remain in the yard after Divine service until they have affixed their names to a memorial for the repeal of the Alien Bill."

After having disturbed and broken up the ceremonies of the Church, several of them were detected by the wardens, on going out to examine into the cause of the disturbance, reading this inflammatory paper from the eminence of a tomb stone to a considerable crowd surrounding them. On being asked their motive for disturbing the divine service in so unprecedented a manner, one of them (a well known seeker of repose) replied that he was an Irishman, who had come there for the purpose of promoting the good of his countrymen. "You lie, you rascal," was the spirited reply of a young man, "you are no Irishman; you are a traitor." This fellow immediately drew a pistol and presented it at the young man, but had not courage to discharge it. The other instantly knocked him down, and trampled on him. The indignation of the much-abused assembly would probably have sacrificed the wretches on the spot, the just victims of outraged decorum, had they not by precipitate flight, escaped from the immediate scene, and thus given time for the incensed passions to cool. The rioters were pursued, overtaken, and carried before the Mayor for examination. One of them was committed to prison—the other three found bail. A fifth, who was apprehended in committing an assault on the house of one of the evidences, is also in jail.

We forbear to enter into the minute particulars of a transaction, too well calculated to rouse the keenest resentments of every sober, decent christian, and to stimulate their minds to a dangerous excess of madness. For the same reason we shall suspend, until time has calmed the perturbed passions of our fellow-citizens, those reflections which naturally present themselves: one thing, however, must be noticed. Old Minos, on hearing of the affair, promptly betook himself to the scene of enquiry. His conduct here far outdid all his former outdoings. In brief, he openly said—the prisoners ought to take their hats and walk off.

Respect for that Age, which this rash, unthinking Man dishonors, it is probable, alone prevented his being committed immediately to prison.

Mr. Fenno,

THAT all Irishmen are not alike unloyal and rebellious—that they are not all United —was clearly manifested at the Mayor's office, yesterday morning. The good old Irish names of Gallagher, O'Connor, Ryan, &c. were most prompt witnesses against the conduct of their alienated countrymen. Arrah, then, why should dear Ireland be disgraced for the perfidy and ingratitude of a few rotten branches, while the stock teems with the genuine juice of patriotism?

PAT.

MR. FENNO,

IF the daring outrages which have lately been committed by a banditti who infest this city, do not rouse its inhabitants to a sense of their danger, they almost deserve all the direful consequences with which they are threatened.

That there is such a banditti, organized for the subversion of government, and the establishment of a system of terror and anarchy, cannot longer be doubted by the most incredulous. "The United Irishmen" have at length broken out into acts, which render them no longer the objects of uncertain suspicion. Encouraged by our passiveness, they have proceeded from insult to open outrage; they bid defiance to our laws, they threaten our fellow citizens with assassination, and even the temples of the most High God, whom we worship, are made the theatres of their violence, and foul abominations.

Fellow Citizens, guard yourselves 'ere it is too late, against these cut threats, whose very watch word chills the soul with horror. Your persons, your religion, your government, are threatened, and let it not be said that these were lost without a struggle.

Sunday Evening. M.

CONGRESS,

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

SATURDAY, February 9.

The bill to regulate the collection of duties on Imports and Tonnage, was read the third time and passed.

COUNTER RESOLUTIONS of Pennsylvania.

A communication from the Governor of Kentucky, inclosing certain Resolutions of the Legislature of that State, being on Saturday last under the consideration of the House of Representatives of this State, the following Counter Resolutions were agreed to by a considerable majority.

RESOLVED, That in the opinion of this House the people of the United States have vested in their President and Congress, the right and power of determining on the intent and construction of the constitution, as on the ordinary subjects of legislation, and the defence of the Union; and have committed to the Supreme Judiciary of the nation the high authority, of ultimately and conclusively deciding upon the constitutionality of all legislative acts. The constitution does not contemplate, as vested or residing in the Legislatures of the several states, any right or power of declaring, that any act of the General Government, "is not law, but is altogether void, and of no effect," and this house considers such declaration as a revolutionary measure, destructive of the purest principles of our state and national compacts.

2d. That it is with deep concern this house observes, in any section of our country, a disposition so hostile to her peace and dignity, as that which appears to have dictated the resolutions of the Legislature of Kentucky.—Questions of so much delicacy and magnitude might have been agitated in a manner more conformable to the character of an enlightened people, flourishing under a government adopted by themselves, and administered by the men of their choice.

3d. That this house view, as particularly inauspicious to the genuine principles of liberty and good government, the formal declaration by a Legislative body, that "confidence is every where the parent of despotism, and that free governments are founded in jealousy." The prevalence of such an opinion cuts asunder all the endearing relations in life, and renews, in the field of science and amity, the savage scenes of darker ages. Governments truly republican and free are eminently founded on opinion and confidence; their execution is committed to representatives, selected by voluntary preference, and exalted by a knowledge of their virtues and their talents. No portion of people can assume the province of the whole, nor resist the expression of its combined will. This house, therefore, protests against principles, calculated only to check the spirit of confidence, and overwhelm with dismay the lovers of peace, liberty and order.

4th. that this house consider the laws of the United States, which are the subjects of so much complaint, as just rules of civil conduct, and component parts of a system of defence against the agressions of a nation, aiming at the dominion of the world, conducting her attacks more by the arts of intrigue, than by her skill in arms—never striking, until she has deeply wounded or destroyed the confidence of a people in their government; and, in fact, subduing more by the infamous aids of seduction, than by the strength of her numerous legions. The sedition and alien acts this house conceive, contain nothing terrifying, but to the flagitious and designing. Under the former, no criminality can be inferred or punishment inflicted, but for writing, printing, uttering or publishing false, scandalous and malicious aspersions against the government, either house of Congress, or the President of the United States, with an intent to defame and bring them into contempt. Under the latter, the citizens of the United States, have not any thing more to fear, inasmuch as its operation will only remove foreigners, whose views and conduct are inimical to a government, instituted only for the protection and benefit of the citizens of the United States, and others, whose quiet and submission give them some claim to the blessing. Yet these laws are subjects of loud complaint. But this house forbears an examination into the cause, and only expresses its surprise that such an opposition to them exists! Our country's dearest interest demands every where unanimity and harmony in her councils, and this house is unable to discover any means more favourable to those important objects than confidence in the wise and honest labours of those, in whose hands is reposed the sacred charge of preserving her peace and independence. The voice of the greater number the constitution declares shall pronounce the national will; but in the opinion of this house, the provision is vain, unless it be followed by the unfeigned and practical acquiescence of the minor part. Loud and concerted appeals to the passions of the community are calculated to produce discussions more boisterous than wise, and effects more violent than useful. Our prayer therefore is, that our country may be saved from foreign war and domestic strife.

5th. That it is the opinion of this house, that it ought not to concur in the design of the resolutions of Kentucky.

Resolved, That the foregoing resolutions be signed by the Speaker, and that the Governor be requested to transmit the same to the Governor of Kentucky.

WHEREAS,

BY an Act of Congress passed on the sixteenth day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety eight, the President of the United States is authorised to borrow on behalf of the United States from the Bank of the United States, or from any other body or bodies politic or corporate, or from any person or persons, and upon such terms and conditions as he shall judge most advantageous for the United States, a sum not exceeding five millions of dollars, so however, that no contract or engagement be made which shall preclude the United States from reimbursing any sum or sums borrowed at any time after the expiration of fifteen years from the date of such loan. And whereas, it is declared by the said Act, that so much as may be necessary of the surplus of the duties on Imports and Tonnage beyond the permanent appropriations here toforecharged upon them by law, shall be pledged and appropriated for paying the interest, and also for paying and discharging the principal sum or sums of all the monies which may be borrowed, according to the term or terms which may be fixed, pursuant to the authority aforesaid—And whereas by the said Act, the faith of the United States is pledged to establish sufficient permanent Revenues for making up any deficiency that may hereafter appear in the provisions before-mentioned for paying the interest and principal sums, or either of them, of any monies which may be borrowed pursuant to the said Act. And whereas the President of the United States did by an Act or Commission under his hand dated the ninth day of January in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety nine, authorise and empower, the Secretary of the Treasury, to borrow on behalf of the United States, any sum not exceeding in the whole, five millions of dollars and to make such contract or contracts as should be necessary, and for the interest of the United States, in pursuance of the Act of Congress above recited.

Now therefore, the undersigned, Secretary of the Treasury, in pursuance of the Act of Congress, and the authority from the President of the United States, above mentioned, doth hereby on behalf of the United States of America, contract and engage in manner following, to wit.

1st. A book for receiving subscriptions to a Loan of five millions of dollars for the use of the United States shall be opened in the city of Philadelphia, at the Bank of the United States on Thursday the twenty eighth day of February ensuing, which book shall continue open for the purpose of receiving subscriptions, until the whole of the said five millions of dollars shall be subscribed. If more than five millions of dollars shall be subscribed on the first day of opening the said loan, the surplus shall be deducted in proportion to the sums subscribed by individuals, exceeding four thousand dollars.

2d. For every hundred dollars which may be subscribed there shall be forthwith deposited and paid the sum of twelve dollars and fifty cents, and like payments of twelve dollars and fifty cents, shall be made within the first ten days of the months of April, May, June, July, August September and October ensuing. The Secretary of the Treasury however reserves the right of reducing the number of installments by special agreements, with the individuals who may become subscribers.

3d. On the failure of payment of any installment of the sums subscribed according to the tenor of the second article, the next preceeding installment of twelve dollars and fifty cents, which shall have been paid, for every hundred dollars subscribed shall be forfeited to the United States.

4th, The sums subscribed shall and may be paid to the credit of the United States, at the Bank of the United States, or at the offices of discount and deposit of the said Bank at Boston, New-York, Baltimore, or Charleston, or at either of the Banks of Salem, in Massachusetts, Newport and Providence in Rhode-Island, Hartford in Connecticut, Albany in New-York, or Alexandria in Virginia, for which payments, the receipts of the Cashiers of the Offices of Discount and Deposit and of the Banks aforesaid shall be received at the Bank of the United States as equivalent to money; but no payment of a subsequent installment shall be received at any other place than that where the first installment was paid, except at the Bank of the United States; in case any deposits shall be made at the offices of Discount or Deposit, or at either of the Banks aforesaid, which shall not be applied to the payment of the first installment of subscriptions to the Loan aforesaid, the said deposits shall be forthwith refunded by directions from the Treasury.

5th. For the sums or number of shares of one hundred dollars, which may be subscribed, certificates shall be given by the Cashier of the Bank of the United States, which shall be assignable by indorsement, and delivery of the parties in whose favour the said certificates may be issued, until the completion of the payments required by the tenor of the second article preceeding.
